'We have to Leave this place'

A solo exhibition by Liam Slevin (IRL)

Preview 21/09/2012
19.00hrs - 21.00hrs

'We have to leave this place' is a solo show by Irish artist Liam Slevin, created while on residency at the Listhus Artspace in Ólafsfjörður, Iceland during september 2012.

Slevins practice is predominantly installation, often incorporating found objects, photography and sound. As a mechanism for art making he employs literary tropes in developing a framework in which to work. Currently working with ideas concerning the unreliable narrator, narrative structures and the Uncanny, this exhibition will reflect on these themes as well as his time spent at Ólafsfjörður.
